The following is a brief description of my invention. We integrate a bar code with an auto's inspection sticker placed on the inside of it's windshield. Police officers are able to scan bar code to verify active insurance on that auto. Database is collected as application is made for coverage. Our scanners use Mobitex, Data Tech and CDPD enabled wireless radios to communicate back to server. We have vehicle inspection stations "on-line" to verify that there is insurance in effect for that vehicle and they may affix sticker according to them verifying insurance is current.

There are many other finer details to this system and will forward any info. you deem necessary.

Thank you very much,
